

Story starter!

---

The large room was cold and damp. Breathing in deeply, he stared up at the bright light, which looked close but he knew it was far away. With steady fingers, he adjusted the special backpack on his shoulders. He had to reach the light soon. He hit the power button on the backpack and felt his feet leave the ground...

Perfect picture!

---

What is beyond the bright light? Draw a picture of what might be there!

